Summary

I am an aspiring Software Developer currently pursuing a B.Tech in Information Technology with a good academic record and practical experience in full-stack web development. Enthusiastic about utilizing cutting-edge technologies like React, TailwindCSS, and Firebase Database to create responsive, user-friendly applications. Through self-directed learning and future projects, I'm currently developing my backend skills with Node.js, Express.js, and MongoDB to create scalable applications and resolving practical software issues.
